results as players strive to clinch various titles. In January, the tennis world tuned into the Australian Open as it kicked off the start of the ATP season with Jannik Sinner becoming champion of the 2024 edition of the competition in an epic comeback over Daniil Medvedev. The 22-year-old clinched his first Grand Slam title at the Australian Open and is one of the youngest leading stars on the ATP Tour as he achieved the No. 2 ranking following his Miami Open title in March 2024. (365Scores) In addition to the first Grand Slam of the 2024 ATP Calendar year, other tournaments have also been played since the start of the season. This year, there is an added layer of excitement in the tennis world as the Summer Olympic Games will be hosted in Paris, bringing together some of tennis greatest stars. In total, there are four Grand Slams played each year: the Australian Open in January, Roland Garros in May, Wimbledon in June, and the U.S. Open in August. (365Scores) 365Scores has prepared a calendar for you to stay up-to-date with the dates, locations, and current champions of the upcoming and previous tournaments in the 2024 ATP Calendar year. BNP Paribas Open Indian Wells, CA March 16-26, 2025 The BNP Paribas Open is the largest two-week combined ATP & WTA professional tennis tournament outside of the four majors and The Stadium 1 is the second largest in the world, offering 16,100 spectator seats. Miami Tennis Open Miami, Florida March 16-30, 2025 Moved to Hard Rock Stadium in 2019, home of the Miami Dolphins, located in Miami Gardens, just north of Miami. The Miami Open attracts the world's best ATP and WTA players and the 14 day event, held annually in March, attracts over 300,000 spectators while booking about 15,000 Miami hotel nights. Monte Carlo Rolex Masters Monte Carlo, Monaco April 5-13, 2025 Held annually on the magnificent French Riviera, Monte Carlo Rolex Masters is the first of three Roland Garros series outdoor clay tournaments and a favorite of top ATP players, because who wouldn't want to play world-class tennis at the beautiful Monte Carlo Country Club overlooking the Mediterranean Sea? Barcelona Open Barcelona, Spain April 12-20, 2025 Barcelona Open Banco Sabadell, played at the most prestigious Spanish tennis club, Real Club de Tennis Barcelona, is one of the most important clay tournaments of the season and features top ATP players as they prepare for upcoming Roland Garros. Mutua Madrid Open Madrid, Spain Apr 21 - May 4, 2025 The Madrid Open is widely considered the second most important clay tournament of the season and takes place in the most modern facility in the world La Caja Magica (The Magic Box), while attracting the best of the ATP and WTA tour. Italian Open Rome, Italy May 7-18, 2025 The Italian Open, Rome Masters or Internazionali BNL d'Italia, is the last of 3 major clay tournaments that lead up to Roland Garros and is an ATP Masters 1000 Series and WTA Premier 5 event. Roland Garros, The French Open Paris, France May 25-June 8, 2025 At the end of May, the world's top tennis greats compete in Paris for the second Grand Slam of the year and the only one played on clay, the French Open. If Paris has always been a dream destination for you, what better way to enjoy all it has to offer while also watching our tennis greats play on one of their favorite courts? Queens Club Championships London, Great Britain June 16-22, 2025 The Queens Club Championships, hosted in London in June, between the French Open and Wimbledon, is an ATP 500 tournament on grass courts and known as a "warm up" event to Wimbledon. It is highly attended by all the top players as well as local British celebs and royalty. The Championships Wimbledon London, Great Britain June 30-July 15, 2025 The Championships Wimbledon...the grass, tennis whites, the All England Club, strawberries and cream, royalty...what's not to love about the oldest tennis tournament in the world, and arguably, the most prestigious?? Hall of Fame Tennis Championships Newport, Rhode Island July 6-13, 2025 The Hall of Fame Tennis Championships is great news for those not ready for the grass court season to end after Wimbledon! As the worlds most prestigious tennis tournament concludes, another grass court event begins right across the pond, the Dell Technologies Hall of Fame Open at the International Tennis Hall of Fame. Atlanta Open Atlanta, GA Retired 2024 The Atlanta Open was been a staple of the Southern summer since 2010 and the first event in the seven-tournament series leading up the US Open. The best American players generally showed up to this tournament as they prepared for the US Open. 2024 saw the retirement of this summer hard court tournament. Citi Open Washington, DC July 21-27, 2025 What could be more American than tennis played in the nations capital, Washington, DC? This 500 level event is a great opportunity to see top level pros take it to the hard courts in the Mid-Atlantic. Rogers Cup July 27-Aug 7, 2025 (Toronto WTA) Each year, Montreal and Toronto share hosting the best mens and womens players in the world, with both tournaments played during the same week. In 2022, the ATP will play in Montreal and the WTA in Toronto. Western & Southern Open Cincinnati, Ohio August 5-18, 2025 The Western and Southern Open, annually taking place at the Lindner Family Tennis Center, was first played in 1899, and it is the USA's oldest professional tennis tournament still played in its original city, Cincinnati, Ohio. US Open New York, NY Aug 26-Sept 8, 2024 The US Open, the last of the calendar Grand Slams and held annually in NYC, starts on the last Monday in August, and continues for two weeks into September, across Laver Day Weekend. Laver Cup September 19-21, 2025 Chase Center, San Francisco, CA Laver Cup is an international tennis tournament where two teams, Europe versus The World, comprised of the worlds best active tennis pros are pitted against each other for three days of singles and doubles play. The Laver Cup began in 2017, and was founded by Roger Federer, his management company Team8, former pro Jorge Paulo Lemann and Tennis Australia. Former World No.1 and eight-time Grand Slam Champion Andre Agassi has been named as the new Laver Cup Team World Captain, succeeding John McEnroe, and will begin his term with Laver Cup San Francisco 2025. Shanghai Masters Shanghai, China October 2-15, 2023 The Shanghai Rolex Masters has proved to be very popular among top ATP players, as they have voted it the best ATP World Tour Masters 1000 tournament for 5 consecutive years! It is one of nine ATP World Tour Masters 1000 Series tournaments played annually and the only tournament of this category played outside of North America or Europe. Tennis Paris Masters Paris, France Oct 26 - Nov 3, 2024 The Paris Masters is the last of the annual ATP Tour Masters 1000 series events and considered the most prestigious indoor tennis tournament in the world. It is the final stop before ATP Finals, and the last opportunity for players to earn points to qualify for the years' Champions Tournament. ATP Finals Turin, Italy November 12-19, 2023 The ATP Finals, held annually in November, is a great event for spectators because you are guaranteed to see the best tennis players in the world in action. The year-end championships of the ATP World Tour ensures you get to watch the highest level, most intense tennis. Davis Cup - World Cup of Tennis Davis Cup Finals Group Stage - September 10-15, 2024 Finals - November 19-24, 2024 in Malaga, Spain The Group Stage will feature 16 teams. The top two teams in each group will advance to the Final 8 in Malaga.
