AlRAZIONISISTEMROMANCEMODERNTRASMIGAZIONEATTRESSANCEMATURA AUDIENCELeggi now Penelope «Penny» Jones was born on November 24, 1946 at about 7 kilos in a nursing home in Preston, Lancashire, England. He was the first daughter of Anthony Winn Jones, an engineer who died at the age of 85, and his wife Margaret Louise Groves Jones. He has a brother, Anthony, and a sister, Prudence «Pru.» She had been a passionate reader since childhood: His mother left her in the children's section of the local library while changing the books of the father's library. She was a narrator long before she started writing romantic novels. At the age of eight, he creates storiesgood night serialized, with fake adventures, for the younger sister Prue, who has always been the heroine. At the age of eleven, he fell in love with Mills & Boon with their heroes. At that time books could only be purchased through private lending libraries, and she soon became a devoted fan, and was enthusiastic when the books went on sale, in stores, and she could keep them forever. Penny left high school in Rochdale with O-Levels in English Language, English Literature and Geography. He discovered for the first time the books of Mills & Boon through a girl he worked with. She married Steve Halsall, an accountant and a "lovely man", who smoked and drank too much, suffered from oral cancer with courage and dignity. With her money, and at a time when she could not afford it, her late husband bought her the small electric typewriter on which she wrote her first novels. Her husband died at the beginning of the 21st century. She has been earning her living as a writer since the 1970s when, as a stenographer, she took part in a competition organised by the Association of Romantic Novelists. Even though she didn't win, Penny found an agent looking for a new Georgette Heyer. She published four regency novels as Caroline Courtney, before changing her name to Melinda Wright for three bai-hostesses and then writing two thrillers as Lydia Hitchcock. Shortly thereafter, Mills and Boon accepted her first novel, Falcon's Prey as Penny Jordan. However, for her historical romance novels, she took her mother's maiden name to become Annie Groves. Nearly 70 metres of his 167 novels by Mills and Boon have been sold worldwide. As a widow, Penny Halsall lived in a New Georgian house in Nantwich, Cheshire, with her Alsatian Sheba and her cat Posh. She worked from home, in her kitchen, surrounded by her pets, and welcomed interruptions from friends and family. She passed away on 31 December 2011. Sue Limb, who coined the term in 1988, told the Guardian "for someone like her who played with words regularly, it was easy to pass blockbuster to bonkbuster after a publisher asked for a big thick book with a lot of bonking in it". I thought the word was "mouthy", but maybe that's the point. English spelling versus American spelling. Uh,Learn something new every day!
