During the pre-game phase, West Coast were the strong favorites to win. Team 1 2 3 4 Total West Coast 4.3 8.12 12.18 20.23 20.23 (143) Geelong 4.4 5.7 7.12 8.15 8.15 (63) Even though they led well from the quarter-time onwards, the eagles were unable to turn their dominant game into the scoreboard, with a steady 4-5 margin seemingly keeping the game in balance for much of the third quarter. Billy Brownless took one of the big final marks midway through the 2nd quarter and scored, but it was the only highlight for the Cats in the period as the eagles ripped 4 of their own to lead by 23 points at half-time. Background Main article: 1994 AFL Season Geelong was looking for its first first-place finish since winning the 1963 VFL Grand Final and West Coast were trying to repeat their success in the 1992 AFL Grand Final when they had beaten Geelong by a margin of 28 points, becoming the first non-Victorian team to win the AFL Premiership. At the end of the season at home and outside, West Coast had finished first on the AFL scale with 16 victories and 6 defeats , winning the McClelland trophy. Geelong finished fourth (based on Carlton and North Melbourne) with 13 victories and 9 defeats. His next two great endings as a coach arrived in 1997 and 1998 and both would be premier with Adelaide against St Kilda and North Melbourne. West Coast had a relatively soft race in the great end, defeating Collingwood in a qualifying end to win a week of rest, before easily reach Melbourne in a preliminary end. Geelong had earned until the end after winning three end hard, including two dramatic victories after the mermaid on Footscray and North Melbourne. With the Geelong Champion, Gary Ablett, well maintained and the Star Midfielder of Geelong Garry Hocking injuring the thigh (although staying on the floor), the Cats were in trouble when the west coast began to dominate the general game.
