Kedai Biskut Leong Chee Kee, located at C8, People's Court, Lebuh Cintra, George Town, 10100, Penang, is one such establishment that continues to delight customers with its authentic offerings. When visiting this hidden gem, one can easily miss it due to its secluded location. However, for those who know where to look, the sign 'Kedai Biskut Leong Chee Kee' near People's Court Apartment will guide you to the shop. Upon entering, the menu boasts a variety of traditional baked goods, including their famous Pepper Biscuits (RM6.50/pack), Fluffy Egg Cakes (RM6.50/pack) baked in flower-shaped moulds, Coconut Tarts with a buttery swirl crust and moist grated coconuts within, Chinese-style Walnut Cookies (RM6.50/pack), and more. Although the atmosphere inside is modest, it is clean and tidy. The staff is friendly and attentive, ensuring that customers receive prompt service despite the limited seating capacity. For those looking for a unique experience without overpaying, Kedai Biskut Leong Chee Kee offers an excellent value proposition with reasonable prices. The food at this bakery is where it truly shines. Patrons rave about the quality of their baked goods, which are made fresh daily. While some may find the prices slightly steep compared to other local bakeries, the quality and taste justify every ringgit. Be prepared for a delightful culinary experience that will satisfy your cravings for traditional Malaysian treats. In conclusion, Kedai Biskut Leong Chee Kee remains an essential stop for anyone seeking authentic Penang-style baked goods without breaking the bank. This hidden gem is sure to delight both locals and tourists alike with its delicious offerings and charming atmosphere. Drinks are decent but not exceptional, so it may be worth visiting a different cafe for better coffee. On the other hand, their cakes and pastries are well worth the price when you're in the mood for something sweet. Overall, this bakery is great to experience once in a lifetime due to its hard-to-reach location and limited parking options. This traditional bakery's dedication to preserving Malaysia's culinary heritage makes it an excellent destination for those eager to try authentic local treats without stepping foot into modern establishments. Consider visiting these bars, each offering its own distinct twist on traditional cocktails. One option is RM38, which offers an eclectic rum-based drink infused with local herbs like ulam and daun kesum. Another spot, Good Friends Club, serves up traditional Chinese drinks like Kopi C-Peng, Milo Peng O Kao, and Lao Hao Peng Kao in ceramic cups. For a more industrial vibe, Yoha-350 is an underground bar tucked away on Beach Street. Its signature cocktails are named after significant years throughout history, such as 1945 and 2019. This spot also features live music on weekday nights and a DJ on weekends. Another must-visit is Over & Above, which transforms into a trendy bar at night. With a minimalist theme and stunning views of the jeties and seas, this bar serves up classic cocktails like brandy and whiskey. For those looking for a touch of glamour, Beso Rosado is an elegant cocktail bar located within a neon-pink restaurant. Its lavish interior features punk-rock graffiti, lavish furniture, and pink walls adorned with velvet chairs. This spot offers a unique evening experience that's hard to forget. Each of these bars offers something different from the traditional nightlife experience in Penang. Whether you're looking for a unique drink or an atmospheric setting, there's sure to be a spot on this list that suits your taste. Beso Rosado & Beso Rosado Beso Roado's team of skilled bartenders are working their magic behind the counter to create an unforgettable experience for patrons encircling them. The bar's curated drinks list will make you want to sip late into the night, with a variety of exotic flavors and elegant presentations. One signature drink is the Tropical Panda (RM32), served in a golden pineapple glass and made up of tequila, pandan syrup, pineapple, and mango juice with a burnt bay leaf. Another unique creation is Purple Rain (RM32) which consists of blue pea flower-infused gin mixed with earl grey tea, lemongrass, floral hints from lavender, and bursting with an aromatic scent. My Granma's Memory (RM32) brings out more savory profiles, featuring coconut cream on rum, coconut syrup, kaffir leaf, and galangal that sharpens the overall flavor of the cocktail. Beso Rosado is not just a bar but also doubles as a hob and grill restaurant serving incredible cuisine such as Sirloin Steak (RM68) and Cold Capellini Pasta (RM12). With its extensive layout and diverse menu, it's an essential destination for anyone looking to experience the best of Penang's cafe culture. The cafe offers a variety of scones, quiches, sheet cakes, and pastries to enhance your tea-time experience. You'll find timeless favorites like Carrot Cake and Lemon Curd Pistachio alongside local specialties such as Pandan Pound Cake and Fresh Ginger Cake. For those looking for a Korean-inspired treat, Dear You cafe is the perfect spot. With its whimsical drinks and fluffy milk loaves, it's a charming cafe that promises a unique dining experience. 015 Paliro Cafe is another great option, offering iconic street snacks like egg drop toasts and japchae, as well as adorable ddingeons with generous fillings. Fuku Eatery is perfect for those seeking Japanese fusion comfort food. The menu features an impressive selection of mains, countertop bakes, plated desserts, and drinks, all with creative twists. But if you're looking for a truly unique experience, China House is the place to go. With its quirky decor, healing courtyard, and 14 unique spaces, it's a must-visit destination for locals and tourists alike. Whether you're in the mood for some fresh air or a cosy corner to sip your coffee, China House has it all. And with its artistic vibe, live music space, and cuntry room with over 200 books, it's the perfect spot for a laid-back hangout. So why not give China House a try? With its dedication to giving back and amazing cake selection, it's an experience you won't want to miss! One's for you, and one of our favorites was the Carrot Walnut Cake (RM18), which had a perfect balance between sweetness and spice with a little crunch from the walnuts. This cafe in Penang is straight out of a dream, with its historic compound consisting of three heritage buildings connected via an open-air courtyard. China House epitomises old-world charm, making an impression from the moment you step inside. The extensive menu offers a wide array of dishes ranging from traditional Malaysian cuisine to contemporary Western fare, including a delicious Breakfast Wrap and Mexican Breakfast (Nachos Style). The desserts are a must-try, with over 50 types of cakes and pastries on display. We were spoilt for choice, with enticing flavours like Chocolate Orange Butter and Lemon Winter Gateau. China House is not just about food; it's a cultural hub that offers a relaxed and bohemian ambiance perfect for leisurely afternoons spent sipping coffee and soaking in the creative vibes. ChinaHouse Penang, a cultural hub that offers an eclectic blend of food, art, and entertainment, has left me underwhelmed. The cafe's offerings of desserts were promising, yet failed to impress. With a vast array of flavours, I was hoping for something truly special, but unfortunately, the quality was subpar. It seems like they focused too much on churning out everyday cakes with ordinary ingredients rather than perfecting their craft. Perhaps it was just a case of picking the wrong flavours, as the popular ones are often more hit-or-miss. However, when it comes to pricing, I think they might be a bit steep for local standards. Nonetheless, ChinaHouse is still worth visiting for its unique atmosphere and excellent drinks. As a food enthusiast, I'm always on the lookout for exceptional culinary experiences, and ChinaHouse certainly has its moments. The Kopi C Espresso Cafe & Bar serves up delicious all-day breakfasts and coffee, making it a popular spot for brunch. Their rustic cakes are displayed in a glass case, enticing customers to try them. One must-try dessert is their signature Tiramisu, which has gained a cult following among locals and visitors alike. The chocolate sponge layers sandwiched with dark chocolate cream and topped with crystallized almonds make for a delightful treat. Another standout was the Lemon Curd Pistachio Cake, which offered a refreshing burst of citrus. But what truly sets ChinaHouse apart is its artistic atmosphere. The cafe's decor, with its vintage furnishings and eclectic artwork, creates a unique experience that feels like stepping into a local gem in Brooklyn. Patrons can even contribute to the art scene by drawing on paper provided at each table. In conclusion, while ChinaHouse may not be perfect, it has a certain charm that makes it worth visiting for those looking for a cultural experience beyond just food. With its diverse offerings and artistic atmosphere, ChinaHouse is definitely a destination worth exploring in Penang. We couldn't believe our eyes when we saw the adorable kitty portraits displayed for all to see - it was a treat for cat lovers like us who just can't get enough of those cute little faces. The red-brick moongate is an excellent welcoming entrance, and its popularity on social media isn't hard to understand. We found ourselves taking lots of pictures in front of it, and we're sure you will too when you visit ChinaHouse. A short walk from the kitchen where bakers are whipping up delicious treats leads us to the popular Chinese Courtyard of ChinaHouse, which is just a beautiful open-air spot to relax with your coffee and cake while enjoying the nice shade from lush green foliage and mango trees. It's worth mentioning that if it gets too hot outside, you can dip your feet in the pool without any problem - yes, you read that right! The pool at ChinaHouse isn't just for show; you can actually take a swim if you want to. If you're looking for something fun to do at night, we recommend checking out The Canteen, a popular bar where they serve comfort food specials. It's perfect for hanging out with friends over some great live music and tipples on the weekends. The first floor of ChinaHouse is already bustling with activities, but what really caught our attention was the spacious second floor, which features gallery spaces that host seasonal exhibitions. We had a blast checking out the unique trinkets, precious jewellery, and eclectic art pieces at the latest showcase. If you're looking for something to buy, there's also a retail space selling local handmade items like batik apparel, rattan bags, and artsy tiffin carriers, as well as art books, postcards, prints, and jewellery. ChinaHouse is definitely a must-visit cafe when it comes to cakes and art - the building facade is very charming, but the interior ambience is what really makes it special. It's no wonder that ChinaHouse is considered one of the chicest spots on the island to visit - its creative urban ambience is just so much fun to experience. And, of course, there are plenty of delicious cakes to feast on while you're here.
