Deep sea fishing used to look extreme. Not anymore. Now, days when hand fish or reel in 200-plus sterlin Marlins - from a kayak - are considered only another day on the water-by John Perrittanonot known exactly to be the most attractive fish of the sea, the dogtooth ha tuna, in recent years, becomes increasingly sought after by sports fishermen in search of a challenge. If you've ever seen a Wade flying fisherman in the river and start dancing his Scottish line over the rushed water, you probably have developed an envy of his art - not to mention his tool. When you saw the words "Chopperfish", you probably thought that we would say how to emulate "Maritime Madman" and "Man vs. Fish" which houses the bottom of dives of Matt Watson from a chopper in the Pacific Ocean and landing on the back of a great marlin. It is not a general rule of thumb for which type of person could undertake ice fishing sports, apart from being able to face cold weather. the clip of "Man vs. Fish" and "Madman of the Sea" host m Atto Watson struggling with a marlin from the Persian precarious of a sea-doo? It looks a little extreme, doesn't it? Catch-e-release is becoming increasingly popular among fishermen who want to make sure that fishing in their favorite place remains good. It is the purest type of fishing, practiced by fishermen who enjoy the thrill of fighting, but want to give a worthy opponent the opportunity to continue to live - and perhaps to fight the line another day. The images that the images show images of the fishermen and their capture. Look at the photos of fishing and fishing fly, and even the fishing pictures on the ice. By Jessika Toothman Page 2The department of baits in a bass fishing superstore is not place for the initiate. The overwhelming selection of bass baits can be overwhelming. There are baits of every imaginable shape, size and color, and each of them promises to bring down ever bigger with less fangs. To add to the confusion, there are bass fishing baits designed for any possible variation in water temperature, condition and season -- cold water, hot water, muddy water and clear water, pre-spawn and post-spawn. Rather than squiring a hundred different bass baits in their plating boxes, most expert largemouth bass fishermen narrow their options to a few favorites that constantly stock the bigger fish. While professional anglers are known to protect their recall selection strategies as closely the positions of their favorite fishing points, we managed to swing in this list of 10 essential bass fishing baits that are famous for catching large year down around a wide range of water conditions. With stick baits, the angler is based on his own ability to create a movement that imitates the movement of a surface scrolling ecafish. Perhaps the best known stick bait is that called Zara Spook, a cigar-shaped bait that can attract the bass to the surfaceAs deep as 25 feet [Source: Bass Resource]. Fishermen use most anglers the thick Zara and the similar baits to create a "walk-the-dog" movement back and forth which is irresistible for bass, but takes a little practice to perfect [Source: Stuart] .China all the Topwater baits, Stick Baits are more effective when water temperatures are greater than 50 degrees Fahrenheit (10 degrees Celsius) [Fonte] [Fonte The stick baits work better in clear, open water and can be used on the surface of the low water or on the much higher layer of water of any depth. For another Topwater option, see Topwater poppers attly-demoted on the next page. Topwater poppers, also known as "Cheugger", are designed to tilt the surface of the water and cause squeezing or squeezing while recovering (or reel) Your recall [Source: ExtremeLures.com]. Poppers are available in styles and colors modeled to resemble many of the favorite snack choices of a hungry bass, including frogs, shad, bluegill and fish. While the shape, color and size should be selected to match fishes living in the waters you are fishing, all poppers have a cup lip that creates the distinctive poppings and sketches sounds you want the bass to feel when the bait is brought (or "crossed") out of the water [Source: Moore]. Topwat's first pappers were made from solid wood, and some are still, but most is now shaped by hard plastics. Topwater poppers can be used around herbs, strains and coasts, as well as open water. In clear water, a popper on the surface can attract a bottom from depth of over 30 feet [Source: raley]. Popular brands include POP-R, CHUG-N-SFT (so called because "spit" in water outside while bait is back), Chug-bug and hula popper.fish not biting at the top? Despite its unappealing name, the next draw on our list can help you pull even the most lethal lows of food at the bottom.reel Grubs can be the truly enemy of the gardener, but their soft plastic homonyms are often a best friend of a fisherman. Unlike their living counterparts, soil dwellings, the versatile bass fishing lumps are available in a range of colors, sizes and styles and are essentially exclusive with code attached [Source: Ingram]. The Grub work in cold water and in hot water and can be connected to a range of different hooks, plant of plates and weights to help them sink to the desired depth. In cold winter conditions, both cabins of the curly tail and the white tail chains can lure into the lazy fish that suffered along the bottom of the lake or hide under the basins, the vegetation and thenatural, and in warmer temperatures, irons can be effective in shallow waters as well [sources: Bass resource; Ingram]. Exceptional anglers can get good results by skillfully "darting" and banging the grubs near the edges of rivers and streams, but many bass fishing enthusiasts recommend the Grub reel with a slow and steady recovery to avoid stucoating the lures on weeds, rocks and fallen trees, or losing the attention of slow-moving bass in colder waters [Sources: [Sources: Bass resource]. If you find yourself fishing on the cover too complicated for the grubs, make sure your equipment box contains at least some different sizes of the next bass fishing accessory on our list. A spoon is an exclusive exclusive with a form that resembles a small footwer or the bowl of a shallow spoon. The spoon baits are almost always made of metal and usually are relatively heavy, weighed between .5 oz and 2.5 ounces [source: bass fishing and capture]. Their sturdy weight and their smooth design, spare design make spoons among the most rigid fishermen of all bass fishing baits, which means that they are ideal for heavy fishing like submerged weeds, mosses and herbs with A minimum quantity of handle [source: Bass Resource]. Spoons are generally considered exclusive water, used to take the bass that swim on the bottom or suspended midlevel depth [source: bass fishing and catching]. Due to their weight and well-vegetated areas in which they are often used, the spoons require a heavy line and a medium-heavy cane [sources: bass fishing and capture; It is bass]. Buzzbaits are generally made of hard plastic or light aluminum. While they are perhaps better loved for their ability to browse the vegetation and debris without committing, Buzzbaits arrive in a range of weights and blade styles designed to work in different water conditions. The baits are available in two base forms, in line and in the shape of U, with between one and four blades per bait [source: Raley]. Experienced fishermen often bend blades to change the corner of the propellers, which influence their movement or action, in water [source: grafes]. The RAT-L-trap works in many different water conditions, but it is particularly effective when teased for superficial coverage tips such as weeds and submarine grass [source: Marwin]. We will talk about those Next Jigs are simple basses that can be basic as a hook with a small metal sphere on the top. More often, the top of the jig is painted with fish eyes and the low is camouflaged with a striped plastic skirt. The colorful skirt attracts not only the fish, but helps to make the hook weedless - or difficult to hook into the cover. The jig-and-pig takes its name from long-standing belief that big fish love pig-based baits . The pork baits look a lot to their plastic cousins - sold in shapes that resemble frogs, lobsters and worms - but are made from real pork. To keep them fresh, pork baits must be stored in a solution of brine (salt). The classic jig-and-pig bait is a jig with a pork trailer, or extra hook, attached to the main hook. For fishermen who do not like the pie of brine solutions, there are a lot of alternatives like big plastic frogs and plastic larvae with codes moves.The Jig-and-Pig is a heavy bait that works better when launched in a coastal structure like submerged branches of trees or strains and made to contract and sink slowly [source: Tackle Tour]. They are designed to look like baitfish - silver-blue shad or persico sun fish - which are a favorite big bass.flukes snack are known as jerkbait due to the way they are typically caught. A soft plastic trematode is hooked to a hook without additional weights. With a rig Texas, the hook is first perforated through the call nose and then the tip of the hook is buried in the belly of the call to decrease the hooks. A fisherman throws the bait a short distance and sinks slowly for some Seconds. With a slight shot of the line, the fisherman pulls the tremless surface, where he swims with a realistic movement before sinking slowly again. Fluke baits are particularly effective in late spring post-spawn, when the bass are fattening on fish Shad [Source: Burkhead]. When caught properly caught, Spinnerbait can be one of the most versatile basses in your address box [Source: staples]. An experienced fisherman can take advantage of the unique form and the crank spinnerbait swimming action in depth, weave through thick, and reverse and sink inside the coastal structure – the branches of the trees and strains we mentioned earlier – or swim along the surface. Spinnerbait bass baits look a little strange on the mainland. The body of the spinnerbait resembles a graphite that was opened and twisted at a right angle. At the bottom end of the paper is a giga head with a oneHook. From the upper end of the open clip hangs one or two glossy, golden or silver shiny blades. Strange spinnerbait aspect only makes sense when you see the recall movement through the water. When retrieved slowly or quickly through the water, the spinning blades turn and flash wildly, creating a hemtion in the water that the bass can see , feel and hear. The colored skirt adds the noisy effect while maintaining I love without weed. And we could not take a top 10 without including the extremely effective plastic worm. That is next.back in the call corridor to the low fishing superstore, you might wonder why there is so much space of the shelf dedicated to plastic worms. Can such a simple idea - replace worms lives lives with colored plastic versions - really take low? Yes Betcha.One of the easiest baits in the industry, the Texas-rigged plastic worm, is still one of the most effective. As we mentioned before, the classic Texas rig involves inserting a hook through the upper part of the plastic bait and then bury the tip of I love the lower in the belly of the call, making it Weedless. When done correctly, a Texas worm -Tressed lies straight in the water with only its tail that turns behind. In this presentation, the bait looks less at a worm that a small baitfish. Another popular technique for the endless plastic screws is called the Wacky plant. At the beginning, it seems the kind of thing that would have a 3 year old. The hook is drilled directly in the middle of the worm body, and the two extremities of the worm are left to dangle. When a extramantly rigged worm is overturned and dropped around structures like trunks and moles, the two dangling ends of the worm yes Seductive rocking while sinking.
